Adelphi Building, London

Client: Blackstone Property Management Value: £247,000

KpH, acting in the role of Principal Contractor for our client Blackstone Property Management, and working with Gardiner & Theobald LLP, successfully completed a 10 week soft strip and enabling project at the prestigious Adelphi Building in London. The 14 storey building remained live for the duration of the refurbishment works, which took place on Level 12, 13 and the Roof. Particular attention had to be taken to minimise the disruption to all live areas and reduce noise and vibration during construction operations. Works included the removal of Plant Rooms, M&E, Asbestos and all office fixtures and fittings.

1 James Street, London

Client: Page Surveyors Value: £40,000

Working as the Principal Contractor for our client, Page Surveyors, KpH Deconstruction completed a 3 x week programme to demolish a detached house, garage and out building at 1 James Lane in London. The main challenge on this project was to complete the works within a very tight programme, which we accomplished successfully. To prepare for the works, and ascertain if there were any unidentified services beneath the ground, KpH carried out a ground survey. We then liaised with the local authorities to carry out isolations at the boundary.
